HUB TRAWLER SUNK; 3 DROWNED

Shipwreck Off Cape Cod as Seen From an Airplane 500 Feet Up

SURGE CRASHES WITH LINER OFF CAPE COD; 43 LEFT STRANDED

Truro, June 23.—Three fishermen were swept by their deaths, two more were seriously injured and nineteen were rescued as their vessel sank beneath their feet when the Clyde liner Ozark, Boston bound, collided head-on with the trawler Surge four miles north of this place today.

The dead:

Patrick Shea, Wenham street, Jamaica Plain.
John Crowley, London street, East Boston.
Allen Bishop, Gloucester.

The injured:

Leon Peiris, East Boston.
William Cotter, East Sixth street, South Boston.

The injured men with their 17 rescued shipmates narrowly missed going down with their foundering ship. Their boat was split almost in two. As soon as they reached the decks of the Ozark, the liner which carried only freight, came about and headed full speed for the beach.

Through a hole in her bows tons of water flooded her hold and her captain knew his only chance to save her was to reach the beach before the water flooded his foremast. The Ozark struck head on and went well up on the outer bar, about one-eighth of a mile off the beach.

ONCE IN a while Washington comes to life and shows signs of human intelligence in its dealings with foreign nations. In one of those moments of consciousness Washington discovers that Japan and Great Britain are carrying on the naval armament negotiations with a clever plan to establishing the inferiority of the United States. Our indignant government tells the two big empires, Japan and Britain, that if they don't do what we consider fair this country will build up a great fleet.

THIS COUNTRY ought to mind its business, let other nations mind theirs and build a fleet. Please Turn to Page 8, Column 2.

Washington, June 23 (U.N.B.)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh arrived safely at Bolling Field here today at 11:25 a. m., having left Dayton, O., at 8:40 a. m.
The transatlantic flier, who came to Washington to discuss his future plans with government officials, and to obtain technical assistance in putting the finishing touches to his book, was met at the flying field by three air secretaries of the government, McCracken of commerce, Davidson of war, and Warner of the navy.
Only a small crowd of flying enthusiasts and a few curious spectators saw the flying colonel pay his third visit to the capital. His arrival today was in sharp contrast to the 148th day.

Claiming under oath that Mrs. Theodore N. Vail, widow of the head of the American Bell Telephone Company, had ten in communication with him before and after his marriage, Hyman L. Lederman, former Back Bay bellhop, in fighting his wife's divorce suit, asserted: "I loved her as his 'ideal' and didn't want to give her up."

Lederman also testified that the story which brought him notoriety was true—that Mrs. Vail intended to leave him a "shadowy fortune." He told Middlesex Probate Court this "fortune" would run into the hundreds of thousands.

Despite a grilling by opposing counsel he insisted his story was true in every particular and that the "fortune" was going to come to him some day.

Under a grilling cross-examination by Attorney Janie Lettman Barrett, counsel for the wife, he was asked as his "ideal" after receiving $800 proceeds of marriage, the for-

Governor Fuller is expected to visit the Dedham Jail some time during the next few days and discuss with Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti the crime of which they stand within the shadow of the electric chair.

The Governor is expected to discuss with the men their trial and their subsequent futile efforts to secure a new hearing. Members of the Sacco Defense Committee today voiced their disappointment that the Governor had failed to reprieve the men, who are sentenced to die in the electric chair this week of July 10. While the Governor may grant the reprieve, it was pointed out that if the reprieve is not granted before July 1, the men, under the law, must be removed to the Please Turn to Page 4, Column 4.

Sever quadrangle was jammed during the exercises that were attended, among other notables, by Secretary of War Dwight Davis, J.
P. Morgan, the banker; Walter B.
Gifford, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company;
Joseph C. Greer, new Ambassador to Turkey; and James M. Jackson.

The oldest class represented at the commencement was the class of 1860, of which John T. Morse, 67, of Boston, was the lone member present. He was not the oldest graduate, however. Henry M. Rogers, also of Boston and of the class of 1862, turning him by one year, Sheriff John L. Fairbairn, as he has done in past years, opened this year's commencement, the 121st, at and conferring of the long list of degrees bestowed.

More than one-third of the 423
graduates receiving degrees were marked with honors.

Of the 143 women, 41 received the degree of bachelor of arts (137 with honors), and 131 bachelor of science with honors.

In the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences 147 men won the degree of master of arts, 51 that of doctor of philosophy and two that of associate in arts.

DEGREES FOR 18 WOMEN.

The Engineering School graduated 42 B. S.'s and 13 masters in the various branches of engineering or engineering sciences and one doctor of science.

Among the 78 winners of the master's degree in the Graduate School of Education were 13 women, the being the seventh year in which women have been eligible to receive Harvard degrees through work in this one department.

The School of Education also graduated eight doctors of education,
two being women.

The Law School graduated 333 bachelors of law, two masters of and twenty doctors of the science of jurisprudence.

The Medical School graduated 223 men, 15 of them with distinction, and the Dental School graduated 136 doctors. Other departments of the university awarded degrees in lesser numbers.

HIGHEST HONORS.

Highest academic distinction in Harvard College, winning the A. B. or S. D. degree, "summa cum laude," with highest honors, was conferred by Frederick N. Arnold, Milton; Eugene
B. Boreness, Cleveland; Henricus, G.
Alton H. Chase, Salem; Milton L.
Katz, Brookline; N. J. John R. Richardson, Dorchester; and Henry F.
Williams, Cambridge.

The highest honor in the Law School, the Pay diploma, was conferred on Henry J. Friendly of Elmira, N. Y., first man to graduate from the Law School "summa cum laude." Six men were graduated magna cum laude and 11 cum laude.

It was the first time that the Law School
has awarded degrees in this form.

PRECESSION FORMED.

As in previous commencements,
the main exercises were held in Sever Quadrangle, President A.
Lawrence Lowell presiding and Governor Fuller and his staff present.

The program for the day opened at 8:45 when President Lowell, the Fellows, overseers, faculty and other officers met with invited guests and alumni at Massachusetts Hall.

Accompanied by the candidates for degrees, the officers and guests were permitted to view the procession.
It had been decreed that in case of rain the exercises would be held in Sanders Theatre and that, in this event, only alumni of at least 25 years standing would be entitled to places in the line.

All speakers and candidates for bachelor of arts or science were seated in Sanders Theatre.

HARVARD LEADS IN EDUCATION, SAYS FULLER

Praising Harvard for her professional and business schools, Governor Alvan T. Fuller today addressed the commencement gatherings of our Commonwealth this university has played a vital part.

"As I look upon the unsolved problems of business, of health,
of industry, and of government, I am in common with you, I believe, no satisfactory solution except that which will come through disclaring
the relationship between fundamental principle and law on one hand and our individual and collective duties and responsibilities on the other."

"What the world always must expect of education is that it shall unfold those fundamental spiritual,
moral, and physical laws that control life and seek to make application of those laws in all our human conduct."

"In the professional schools of Harvard University we find today a splendid example of the effort of modern education to make effective applications of knowledge. In common with the other higher educational institutions of the Commonwealth Harvard stands, as in the past, the exponent of liberal education. To that cause of liberal education she is giving now and will give in years to come a distinguished service."

"To these admirable professional schools which have long set a standard in their several fields, this ver-sitable institution, as the result of a century and a half, has lately added a school of business administration.
This school will undoubtedly bring to business life the fruits of applied knowledge of similar and equal value to those that the other professional schools of the university have already rendered."

"Massachusetts was a pioneer in undertaking to place educational institutions at the service of its citizenship. Harvard College, which might be called the spearhead of this movement."

SHOWS CAUSES FOR U. S. CRIME PROBLEM

Article legal rules shaped for 19th century requirements fail to meet new needs of present-day America and are responsible for the crime problem, it was asserted at Harvard Commencement exercises today by Charles E. Yale of the Law School.

Yale, in an address on the causes and remedies of the crime problem, stated that the flood of new statutes around each year by Legislatures is a result of a problem in the halting legal procedure under which our courts are operated.

"Legal rules and legal procedure
developed and shaped by the pioneer agricultural society of the 19th cen-

try but justifiably referred to by the press as 'the crime problem,' 'miscarriage of justice' and 'abuse of legal process.'"

"First among the problems to be solved is the administration of criminal justice. Our antiquated forms of procedure cannot cope with the modern need for speedy justice
for the innocent or the guilty."

"Procedure saturated with formal
technicalities results in years of
delay, in appeal after appeal to higher
courts, and in unmitigated expense to the litigant."

"Then, finally, if the guilty man has not found some legal loophole of escape, he is imprisoned, perhaps even then to become the beneficiary of a forgetting public and of a forgetting parole board, combining to nullify the purpose for which a new form of martyrdom."

"Second in importance is the problem of legislation. Annually our Legislature in America turn out some 15,000 statutes, of which small regard for established legal principles and leading to further confusion and uncertainty. The final end, error and misadventure
of legislation must be discarded."

"Of third rank is the problem of the multiplicity of administrative boards and commissions. We are then a distinct element of danger to the cherished ideal that ours is a government of law and not of men."

Major the thrill that comes with home ownership. Several choice "Star Class" are advertised in Classification

They are failing to meet the new requirements of present-day America," he said.

"The result is the growing confusion and uncertainty so common-

has been inclined than now to develop situations out of which war might easily emerge."

"The fact that self-governing people choose their own governments and are, therefore, presumptively responsible for the actions and decisions of these governments, does not meet the issue."

"Those governments are never elected on precise issues of peace or war. They are elected on domestic and foreign domestic issues. And a government elected primarily on an issue, let us say,
such as the tariff, may not be at all representative when suddenly confronted by the need of a decision involving peace or war."

FORCE FALSE BASIS.

"Our governments have shown themselves unable to protect us against international aggression. If they control it, seems likely to be merely an intensified repetition of the past."

"A durable peace cannot be based at all, based upon goodwill. And I believe profoundly that that practical good-will exists that the great self-governing people can safely trust one another and that only a method of dealing between them, inherited from a corrupt system of autocratic government prevents our recognition of that fact."

"A conference at which each of the people is represented would be a necessary reality."

College Editors "Too Serious, Often Wrong"

College Journalists are often too serious and are often quite wrong, in the opinion of Donald S. Gibbs, Harvard, 1927, in an address today at Harvard commencement exercises.

Gibbs defended the Lampoon, which was the centre of several controversies during the college year just ending, and which,
last Fall, was blamed principally for the break between Harvard and Princeton.

Including in his treatise the Harvard Crimson and the Alvo-
cate, Gibbs declared:

"While Harvard continues in her venerable tradition of freedom, may her papers do the modern need for speedy justice
for the innocent or the guilty."

"Procedure saturated with formal
technicalities results in years of
delay, in appeal after appeal to higher
courts, and in unmitigated expense to the litigant."

DEACONS QUIT, RAP STRATON'S 'SHOUTING'

New York, June 23 (A.P.)—Five deacons of Calvary Baptist Church have resigned, declaring themselves "wholly at variance with the Rev. Dr. John Stratton, pastor, upon certain fundamental points of doctrine and church conduct."

The five men four weeks ago joined in a public vote of confidence in Stratton as pastor. In April, 1925, four trustees quit after instituting litigation against the pastor's plan for a skyscraper church.

"We are particularly concerned," the statement of the resigning deacons today said, "by the recurrence in this church of manifestations of a nature commonly associated with pentecostalism."

Supplementing the statement, Stephen A. Bradford, one of the deacons, explained that pentecostalism is a form of emotionalism which results in fainting and shouting.

With Bradford these who resigned are H. A. Von Opstel, chairman of the board and superintendent of the Sunday school; Leonard B. Wilson, church treasurer; John Hurst and Frank E. Wentworth.

"It is the fact of the same old trouble who have been making trouble for Calvary Church for a long time," Dr. Stratton asserted. "You remember there were some deacons who didn't believe that we should undertake healing by prayer. The resignations will be accepted."

Pentecostalism, previously been practiced in New York only at Glad Tidings Tabernacle, where Aimee Semple McPherson spoke. Mr. Von Opstel said it made his appearance at Calvary eight months ago, when Ullian Wiley, girl evangelist, took Stratton's pulpit for four weeks.

Supporters of Smith, angered by Kent's action, declared the pilot would hop off just as soon as his plane is ready.

Springfield, June 22.—Two men were seriously crushed and six others were injured when they were caught in a clay-bank slide at the Forest Park brick yards today. The two believed fatally injured, Louis Lachin and Stanley Oussel, were buried under 10 feet of clay. The others were partially buried.

When the slide occurred, every available man was rushed to the scene and for 20 minutes they battled at top speed with shovels until all were rescued. The two unconscious men, hospital physicians said, were so badly crushed they cannot live.

JORDAN MARSH VETS ON OUTING

The Quarter Century Club of Jordan Marsh Company fellow workers has started its ninth season with 25 new members added to the roster of those who have served in the store for 25 years or more, making a total of 87 active members.

Its older brother, the Half Century Club, received three new members who were honored guests at an afternoon and evening outing at the Jordan Marsh Hotel House Wrentham, on the former estate of Helen Keller. The three who are embarking upon their second half century are Frank Coleman, buyer in the dress goods department; John D. Crowley, manager of the shoe office, and Thomas P. Glibin, manager of the upholstery and drapery department.

Leaving the store in ten huge buses and a score of automobiles, 466 members of the two clubs, store executives, and husbands and wives of club members, rode to Wrentham where they found the rustic wares of the East House transformed with a tent pavilion, a grand stand, banding and balloon decorations.

PLENTY OF GAMES.
Sitting music, both modern and old time, was played during the afternoon by the First Corps Cadet Band. Tumble, archery, clock, golf, quoits and other games provided amusement until the moon set was soured.

R. G. Hawkins, store manager, toward the close of the dinner, called for nominations for president and vice-president of the Quarter Century Club.

The names of John Conner, a member of the Half Century Club, and Thomas P. Glibin, one of the three new members of that club, were proposed for president and vice-president respectively. A unanimous vote was cast for the election of the two men. The Half Century Club, which now consists of 87 members, has no officers.

At the close of a vaudeville entertainment, Director W. A. Hawk introduced President George W. Milton, after mentioning that he had discovered the store's youngsters in the store. The youngsters were Coleman, Crowley and Glibin, who were presented with purses, each containing $1,000 in gold, by Mr. Milton, in recognition of their 50 years of service in the store.

RECOUNTS ANECDOTES.
President Milton recounted anecdotes of his early days in the store, and of his father's first association with the store, as a boy, in the early '60s.

W. A. Hawkins followed President Milton with a speech of welcome for the twenty-five fellow workers who have become members of the Quarter Century Club during the last year. They are:

Miss Blanche Hunt, Miss Catherine Blorne, William B. How, Miss Frances Benn, Patrick Quirk, Miss Catherine O'Connell, Miss Annie Sullivan, Miss Mary Powers, Miss Annie Drinkwater, M. J. Murphy, E. Allen Dillman, Patrick Powers, Miss Della Jones, John O'Hara, John McStrain, Miss Mary Gordon, Patrick Ryan, Henry C. Conway, Dennis Collins, Miss Margaret Conley and Miss Mary Murphy.

Among the executives present were Vice-President W. P. Walters, Treasurer Maurice Willey, George E. Sawyer, merchandise manager; E. J. President, basement store merchandise manager and chairman of committees on arrangements: George E. Flinn, advertising manager; A. E. Finney, personnel service manager.

The race started through Methuen at 20 miles an hour, according to Motorway Officer Joseph Hatchinson of the Methuen force. Also, he was driving a Massachusetts car with a California driver's license.

328 IN PRISON MUTINY SET A NEW RECORD

Lansing, Kan., June 22 (A.P.)—A new state penitentiary endurance record against the "hunger cure" was established today by 328 convicts who had barricaded themselves in the prison coal mine at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning and remained defiant after more than forty-eight hours of imprisonment.

Thirty months of mine, tunnel and shaft work for 17 men, today constituted the only food known to be available to the mutineers. Possibilities for more food, however, the mine as yet threatened during a previous mine strike.

In three days of attacks in which prisoners and guards were in the mine in unsuccessful efforts to obtain food, the longest time the last day was 11 o'clock the men below the surface.

On all occasions the guards, held in the mine, were ordered to the surface. A telephone request from the mine to Deputy Warden R. H. Huddleston in charge, was refused. The guards in the mine were ordered to talk to their husbands, men refused that night. It was interpreted as the first indication of the mutiny was refused. However, the unidentified spokesman for the prisoners in the mine, the women were ordered to the surface.

All remained quiet above ground, following a near riot Tuesday night in which a guard was stabbed. In the mine the police to refuse entrance to the mine, the authorities refused to allow the mine to be used as a cigarette store, which caused a demonstration during the night. Huddleston announced the authorities were ordered to call to the mine on the contrary. Antagonism "no cigarettes, no coal."

Miss Susan Panda Tells How Cuticura Healed Pimples

"My trouble began with itching and burning and later formed pimples that were hard, large and red. My face, neck and back were mostly affected. The irritation caused me to scratch and after scratching the pimples would often come and form again. The irritation usually caused loss of sleep at night. The trouble lasted nearly three months. A friend advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I purchased some. The pimples began to disappear, and after using nearly three boxes of Cuticura Ointment and about five boxes of Cuticura Soap I was healed." (Signed) Miss Susan Panda, Box 207, Huntington Rd., Stratford, Conn., June 14, 1926.

Story of Love and Intrigue; a Girl Who Kept Her Head and a Tiger Woman

Lady Melreth is fascinated by Eddie Widen, a romantic figure in Pinaud's tea dance resort. Eddie has high hopes of marrying the great lady, and thereby solving his social and financial problems, as soon as the divorces her sporting husband, Lord Melreth. The money situation in the Widen home, which is ruled by a grasping mother, becomes exceedingly stringent, especially after Jill, Eddie's popular half-sister, loses her place with a road show. Jill is an idealist and her high standards make her brother rather ashamed of his own scheming conduct. Jill, miles from London, is in grave financial difficulties. Far out on a country road she is overcome by a terrific storm, and seeks refuge in a shack where she faints from fatigue, and is later discovered by Lord Melreth, whose shooting camp happens to be nearby.

Jill, revived, jokes with her rescuer and Lord Melreth envisions a pleasant day with the lovely young actress.

Stirred by Jill's youth and beauty, Melreth embraces and kisses her, just as his servant, Parton, returns and enters the room.

THE ADVENTURES OF ROBINSON CRUSOE

The Adventures of Robinson Crusoe By Daniel Defoe

About a year and a half after the wreck, cannibals again visited the island, bringing prisoners. One of the captives made a break for freedom, heading straight for the point where Crusoe was watching from the edge of the jungle. Two savages pursued and as they came closer Crusoe shot one of them.

Crusoe stunned the other savage with a blow from his gun. To be tried to reassure the escapee, Crusoe, who seemed as much afraid of him as of his former captors. But Friday's escapee, who was prostrate, prostrated himself and put Crusoe's foot on his head, to show he would be his slave.

The white man named the native Friday, because he had come to him and his boat and the time passed happily until one day when Friday ran to Crusoe with the news that three cannibals of cannibals had landed on the island.

Ruth As Actor
Expert Boosts Him

By Nick Flattery

NICK YOUNG BOOSTS BABE AS SCREEN STAR
NICK YOUNG, eminent dramatic critic, tells that George Herman Ruth is as good on the silver screen as in most of the better class of movie actors. Nick, very expert in such matters, predicts that George Herman has a real future in front, where the King lights play.

"Ruth," he pronounces, "screens well. He has what they call camera personality. And he can act. He hasn't the mannerisms of a novice. He does things naturally, and the baseball fan like myself can get quite a kick watching him."

"He's at least as good as anybody in the picture, and the cast is better than average. Looks as if the Babe can keep himself popular a long time after he has to hang up his bats."

The Babe's picture, "Ruth Comes Home," really got the big boy in shape for his drive at the home run mark. George H. put in a very victorious Winter. He worked to what was only the shadow of his usual Winter self.

Marshall Hunt, whimsical author who acted as the Boswell of that trap, relates that young Mister Ruth was forced to rise with the birds to get to the studio for his morning stuff; that he was chased so hard all day and sometimes far into the evening that he had no inclination whatever to linger up until said birds began to report to the rising sun.

The Babe liked the movie racket, but was forced to the conclusion that it isn't a soft life, and that an actor earns all the alms he can get, even when the big checks are cashable.

Experience in popularity has made quite a citizen of the big hitter. He can step out now and unfurl a nifty speech. He has poise and pretty good control of the well known language, as he evidenced at the Lazzari dinner the other evening.

George will get along in the world, in several lines, when time forces him to quit baseball, which, incidentally, pays him more than a third of his intrinsic value to the game.

JACK RYDER DESERVES HONOR APLENTY

WHEN track hovers about to banquet Jack Ryder tonight they will be honoring one of the finest individuals most known. Jack is a great coach and a real gentleman. He has developed more than his share of stars and record makers, but has never pushed himself into the limelight.

He likes his game and does more work for the fun of it than any ball coach other than him. It's time the post paid him tribute.

Dempsey Is Picture of Original Fitness

BY JACK CONWAY

NEW YORK, June 23.—"Along with about everybody else, I climbed to the roof of the Hotel Belmont to see Jack Dempsey pose for a million or so photographers and moving picture men," said Mr. Boston today. "The former champion posed this way and then that way until mough plates had been used to take a picture of every square foot of land in America."

"Katie Taylor isn't the only lady who likes to take a look at Dempsey. More than 100 girls managed to climb the long flight of stairs leading to the roof of the Belmont so that they could get a peek at Dempsey."

Tex Rickard stood by swinging his cane. There isn't any fighter in this world whom Rickard feels the same towards as he does Dempsey. Tex is a box office man and he has made $1,000,000 with Dempsey. Rickard now believes the Jack of Hearts will draw $1,000,000 into the box office with Sharkey the bird in the other corner.

"When the photographers and moving picture men had become weary, I breezed over to Dempsey."

"How's the orange out in California, Jack?" I queried.

"Just as fine as the people back in Boston," was Dempsey's quick rejoinder.

Mr. Boston

"TOOK a close-up look at Dempsey. He is as brown as a berry, showing the benefits of the two months and a half he spent in the mountains of California. He stood there adorned in a dark blue suit, tan shoes, a white shirt and a white necktie and a Panama hat. He looked the picture of physical fitness."

"How much do you weigh, Jack?" I pressed.

"Just 155 pounds," he replied. "I'll take off four more pounds and will be ready to fight. How good is boxer?"

"Good enough to beat Willie, Godfrey, Ross, McTigue and Maloney," I told him.

"That's good enough to make a fight," he replied. "And I like a fight. I was never strong for 'house work' or 'part'."

"If you beat Sharkey, you take on Tunney in September?" I asked.

"Sure," shot back Dempsey. "I wanted to give all my attention to Sharkey at this time. I just wanted to win for the Sharkey fight, but Tex told me that would leave him without an opponent for Lunay in the event I came through a victor."

"Rickard has posted $200,000 that he will stage a Tunney match in September. You can bet all the tea in China that I'll be the bird to the other corner when Gae's steps forth to defend his title."

HOW about a training camp? I asked.

"I'd rather not go to Saratoga," answered Dempsey. "There's some kind of a parade going on there all the time. When I'm there for five days there was a big mob out to see me work each day. I had to do my stuff regardless of whether it was beneficial for me to do so or not. I want to train for Sharkey at some spot where I can follow my own training program and not that of the cash customers. I want a camp where no admission is charged. I shall then not be under obligations to anybody."

Isy Kaplan, the star photographer on Mr. Hearst's New York Morning, stepped into the picture to ask Dempsey to do a little more posing for the camera.

When the camera boys don't come around you can bet your last dime that the fight won't draw, and Isy. You don't see any camera men chasing Delaney and McTigue. Say, Champ—you see I don't recover the first Tunney—I should have had you give a little insurance on the bet I made that you would win over in Philadelphia."

"I'll try and even things up for you when I meet Sharkey," replied Dempsey.

"I need help from a couple of hotel attendants to get through the crowd as I left Dempsey with his public up there on the roof of the Belmont."

Nuts a Valuable Addition to the Food Supply

DO you keep nuts among your supplies on your pantry shelves or do you just think of them as an appetizing addition to a fruit salad or low-oil salad? As a matter of fact, nuts are not only delicious but extremely nutritious and are a valuable addition to almost every kind of food.

Many recipes call for walnuts or almonds, but butterbeans, fibrous, hickory nuts, pecans or even pine nuts can be used in a wide variety of recipes and in many cases are better than the more common nuts.

For this delicious method, the cornmeal is the one to use in the chocolate. For candy or as a snack it is really best to break the nuts in pieces.

A delicious peanut butter is made by removing the skin from the nuts, then grinding them in a mill or food processor.

For a delicious nut butter, add a little oil to the ground nuts and mix well. This is a delicious spread for bread or a dip for vegetables.

The Love Slave ~~~~~ Devastating Truth

BAFFLED—Corrine was so baffled by the situation that she had never seen before. She had never seen before. She had never seen before.

AN UNEXPECTED VISIT—That morning she had never seen before. She had never seen before. She had never seen before.

GEORGE PALMER'S PROMISE—Frightened over the outcome of this unexpected situation, a situation in which Corrine, to her own regret, could not find herself.

THE TRUTH AT LAST—Corrine appeared to be a bit doubtful. Palmer leaped over and took her hand gently, holding it between his two throbbing palms.

Substitute for Tin—The scarcity of tin has led to the discovery of a substitute that may revolutionize the canning industry.

JEALOUSY VS. ARROGANCE; KEEP YOUR OWN COUNSEL

It seems almost unbelievable but there are people in this world who do the above to try to keep others from attaining their objectives. They don't want the thing the other person is after. But they just don't want him or her to have it. It is the spirit of dogmatism. And it does not get them one bit of good. But they seem to get a lot of satisfaction in keeping the other fellow from attaining his or her objectives.

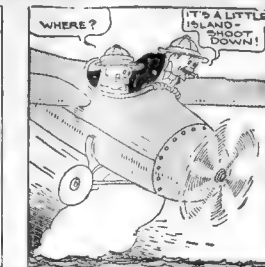

This being the case, why take every Tom, Dick and Harry into your confidence when you plan a certain thing?

Be suspicious of those who tell you that they feel such feeling about something. Perhaps it is jealousy, perhaps you are rather "set up" and proud of what you do, before the desire to take you down.

Remember that if you are not sure, you may be, there are folks who think you are arrogant because, in like circumstances, they would be, so they knock the proud out wherever they can.

Keep your own counsel.

MRS SOLOMON SAYS—

By HELEN ROWLAND

How long, O my daughter, shall we keep Man "in his PLACE?"

For in, did not the ages and lawmakers once cry unto heaven, "Woman's place is in the home?"

But now it hath come to pass that woman's place is in the business office and upon the platform and upon the jury and in the seats of the mighty!

Yet man's place continueth to be in the upper berth of a Pullman car when he travel with his wife—

On the couch in the den with his mother-in-law cometh for a visit—and on a bunk in the attic when the weekend guests fill the bed rooms.

At the end of the gangplank with the luggage or in the long queue at the hotel desk looking after the reservations.

In the darkest corner of the ball room and on the highest shelf in the bathroom cabinet.

On the wrong side of the road for lamp—and on the lugger side of the boat.

In the sweltering city in summer while his wife is beside the cool waters and in the office in the winter, while his wife is in Florida!

Verily, verily, man's "place" in the world is full of honor! Yet no woman would rob him of it!

BEHOLD!

THE WITTY SAYINGS OF MEDBURY

By JOHN F. MEDBURY

LAST year's alar station show that over ten thousand men secured their wives from matrimony. It's not that they don't believe in Cupid, they just want to eliminate the midweek.

LOVE is all right, but some men don't have the time to frolic.

THESE agencies will find a girl and do you proposing for you and all they ask is ten per cent. of the alimony.

ONE couple decided to stay married and the agency sued them for obtaining credit under false pretenses.

THEY finally got a divorce in order to keep the books straight.

AS long as they lived together the ledgers wouldn't balance.

THEY separated to make it easier for the auditors.

A DORCHESTER man has been trading at the same matrimonial bureau since 1917. They've supplied him with eight wives in ten years.

FOUR of them ran away, three got lost and the other one moved to Chicago.

ONE morning he went into the agency single and came out with a wife and six rooms of furniture.

HE was crazy about weddings. He went to the altar three times in succession without taking a "yes" word. He says they're responsible. The last time he married one, he had to pay for love lessons.

NOT only that, but she didn't have any regard for finances. Fifteen minutes after the ceremony she gave up her job.

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

The Boston Evening American will pay $1 for published smart saying address "Smart Sayings," Boston Evening American.

It was $20 in the evening and it was still light. My little boy, aged three, said: "Mother, I want to go to bed." I said: "No, Johnny, you can't sleep because it is too early." "Why," asked he, "because it is still white!"

Carrolltown, Pa., Aug. 19— "One day last year after picking berries my hand began to itch very badly. I scratched it but did not better to put anything on it. Finally the place became red and sore and began to spread all over my hand. Then I became alarmed and seeing your advertisement I sent for a sample each of your Resinol Soap and Ointment. After using these samples the relief was so great I purchased two full size boxes of Resinol Soap and two jars of Ointment and continued their use until my hand was finally healed. I can never thank you enough for what your Resinol has done for me, and I hope that all who have a skin trouble will try these products." (Signed) Agnes Frederick, Box 17.
